Ninja RAW combines HDMI I/O, 1500nits HDR touchscreen, Apple ProRes/RAW recording to ultra-fast CFexpress or external USB media, with a full suite of professional monitoring tools, and camera control/touch to focus for supported cameras. Ideal for content creators with HDMI DSLRs and mirrorless cameras.

Ninja RAW is a compact 5.6-inch HDR monitor-recorder designed for affordable, high-quality capture and precise on-set monitoring across filmmaking, broadcast, and content-creation environments.

Its bright 1500-nit HDR touchscreen provides clear visibility indoors and outdoors, while direct HDMI recording captures Apple ProRes and ProRes RAW straight from the camera sensor to CFexpress Type B or external USB-C storage for fast, reliable results.

Ninja RAW supports a wide range of professional codecs, including ProRes RAW, ProRes RAW HQ, ProRes LT, ProRes 422, and ProRes 422 HQ, and is fully compatible with leading NLEs. USB-C camera control is available for supported models, giving access to key settings such as start/stop, ISO, shutter, aperture, and white balance.

Essential monitoring tools are built in, including EL Zone™ false colour, waveform, vectorscope, and focus peaking, while creative features like Onion Skin overlay support frame-accurate alignment for VFX, animation, and continuity-critical work.

Dual USB-C ports offer flexibility for external storage or optional network adaptors, and the rugged, production-ready design ensures dependable performance on set. With flexible power options for both studio and field use, Ninja RAW combines advanced ProRes RAW recording, professional monitoring, and a bright, portable form factor in a single next-generation device.
