Features

- Uses Cokin 'L' size (Z-Pro) adapter rings
- CNC machined from premium aluminium - lightweight & compact
- Holds polariser plus 2 filters in frames
- Integrated polarising adjustment wheel
- 2x protective foam gaskets to avoid light-leaks during long exposures
- Ideal for use with ultra wide-angle lenses
- Uses 3 different sized filter frames to avoid vignetting with 100mm filters
- Filter frames accept 100mm square, 100x143.5mm and 100x150mm filters
- Compatible with 100mm filters from any manufacturer provided they are 2mm thick

The NX-Series Filter-Holder is at the core of the new NX-Series 100mm system. Machined from strong aluminium, it uses an innovative design to reduce weight and increase the maximal angle of view. Therefore, ultra wide-angles lenses such as 16-35mm zooms can be used without vignetting, even at 16mm on digital full-frame cameras.

The NX-Series filter-holder uses proprietary aluminium frames to accommodate your Cokin Nuances Extreme, or other 100mm filters (with 2mm thickness). The NX-SERIES filter-holder uses ball-bearings which exert gentle pressure to guide the frames in their slot, for smooth and precise operation.

The polarising filter has a special mount which can be easily rotated using an adjustment wheel on the side of the filter-holder. You can use up to 2 square/rectangular filters plus one Polarising filter at the same time. The NX-Series filter-holder is compatible with Cokin Nuances Extreme filters, Nuances Clearsky and Infrared 720 filters in L size. It is also compatible with mineral glass filters from other manufacturers, provided they measure precisely 100x100x2mm or 100x150x2mm in size.
