Speed and versatility—those were the two words that continued to inspire the design of the Kondor Blue Director's Monitor V Mount Kit. At its essence, it's a nato bracket and a V Mount Battery Plate, but can be expanded out or kept small depending on your production's needs. The V Mount Kit can be mounted from the top or bottom monitor and pairs perfectly with our Monitor Nato Rails.

Building out from the main Monitor Bracket is our 12” PPSH 15mm rod and capped with Kondor Blue Hand Grips for 15mm rods. The bracket features a unique dual clamping mechanism to prevent the monitor from slipping under its own weight. The top cold shoe is a great spot for a wireless receiver, and the retractable Arri pins are ideally positioned to work in conjunction with the newly designed Kondor Blue D-Tap Hub.

Every component of the V Mount Battery Plate is machined to ensure durability and accuracy—you can confidently set the kit down without fear of the V Mount popping off.

The modular design of the V Mount Kit allows for a variety of setups and accessorizing. We can't wait to see how it will be used on sets all over the world.
