The Triple Carrier from OP/TECH USA offers solutions for the photographer or outdoor enthusiast who needs more gear close at hand. It's perfect for the wedding photographer who needs three different cameras at the ready, or the birdwatcher who needs cameras and binoculars handy.

The modular components of the Triple Carrier allow you to configure it for any scenario. The reinforced neoprene yoke fits comfortably around the base of your neck and rests on the shoulders to give added mobility and support. It stretches to conform to your body so the load of equipment is evenly distributed while also functioning as a shock absorber. The versatility of this harness is limited only by your imagination.

A single camera can be carried sling-style by using the included under-arm cinch strap opposite the camera to secure the yoke of the harness firmly in place. With just a few clicks, a pair of binoculars or a camera can be added to either the center or opposite side. It can even carry a tripod with the addition of a pair of OP/TECH USA's System Connector-Tripod Loops (sold separately).
