Headphones for Everyday Music Making and Audio Playback

As a modern musician, a set of quality headphones will help you in so many scenarios. From solo practice on digital piano, electric guitar or electronic drums, to studying a mix, or just enjoying a playlist, Roland's RH-5 headphones deliver in every setting. Priced within budget for working musicians, slip on this comfortable closed-back set and hear your music through high-performance 40mm drivers that keep all the tone and dynamics alive. Whatever you play, wherever your music takes you, you'll want the RH-5 headphones in your gigbag.

HIGH QUALITY HEADPHONES, IDEAL FOR ANY DIGITAL INSTRUMENT

When your music-making spans from DAW production to playing a range of electronic instruments, keep the RH-5 headphones at hand and you'll always be ready to get creative. Competitively priced, this entry model in Roland's acclaimed RH range is a great choice, equipped with 40mm drivers they deliver a dynamic-yet-balanced tone from digital pianos, guitars, synths, digital drums and more. Even when the session's over, the RH-5 headphones are ideal for streaming music, complete with powerful bass and crystal clear highs.

CLOSED BACK DESIGN, FOR COMFORTABLE AND FOCUSED LISTENING

With RH-5 headphones, you can block out distractions and lose yourself in the music. The closed-back design means you'll never be interrupted by external noise or sound-bleed from other instruments, while the lightweight 190-gram construction prevents fatigue when you're working late on a demanding mix or musical piece. With the addition of a tough 3-metre cord that lets you move easily between different instruments, computers and recording consoles, RH-5 headphones make recording and practice sessions more comfortable, focused and productive.
