BUILT FOR BROADCAST QUALITY

Shure engineers tapped decades of wireless knowhow to build the best audio experience possible. Using a custom acoustic design and proprietary wireless software, MoveMic takes cable-free recording to new levels of broadcast quality.

The MoveMic Receiver works as an additional accessory to boost the compatibility of your MoveMic One or MoveMic Two system. Simply connect it via the supplied USB-C or 3.5mm cable to your camera or computer, or to your mobile phone for additional compatibility to third party apps. It expands the range of your MoveMic products, giving you more options to capture superior audio to all your devices.

The MoveMic Receiver seamlessly expands the compatibility of your wireless system with cameras and third-party apps on your mobile phone.

In the fast-paced world of content creation, the receiver adds the flexibility to switch between devices without sacrificing audio quality.

You can now use the same microphones with your phone, camera, and all your favorite apps.

The MoveMic Receiver ensures that no matter if you're using a mobile phone or DSLR camera youâ€™ll always have the same top-tier Shure audio experience.

In the box:
